

PROJECT WET and PROJECT LEARNING TREE Professional Development Workshop

at the WaterLife Discovery Center
SANDPOINT May 29-30, 2009

Hours: 4-9:30 pm Friday, 8 am – 5 pm Saturday.

This class focuses on water, trees & forests, educational activities, and an exciting new community resource—the WaterLife Discovery Center!

Who should come? Educators of any grade and subject preK-12, and others who work with school-aged youth.

MATERIALS: Receive the Project WET K-12 Activity Guide and the Project Learning Tree PreK-8 Activity Guide. A PLT high school module is also offered.

CREDIT: Earn one professional education credit (used for recertification) from your choice of UI or NNU. $60 payable at the workshop. Washington clock hours also available. NOTE: This is a different credit than the general Project WET or Project Learning Tree courses!

To REGISTER: Send $25 workshop fee to PLT at 350 N 9th St., #500, Boise ID 83702. Include your name, email, mailing address, phone number and grades/subjects you teach. We'll send you a memo with information and directions. Workshop fee is refundable if you cancel up to a week before the workshop.

QUESTIONS? Contact Ann Gehring in Sandpoint, gehringann@hotmail.com, 208-263-6294; Kaye Kamp at kayekamp@yahoo.com; Michelle Youngquist at the PLT State office, plt@idahoforests.org, 208-334-4061 or Julie Scanlin at the State Project WET office, jscanlin@uidaho.edu, 208-332-4414.

Project Learning Tree and Project WET are award-winning environmental education programs. At this workshop, you'll receive both the PLT and Project WET activity guides, with good information and fun educational activities to help your students learn how to think not what to think about the environment and related issues.
